

Intern Livingston

“Intern Livingston” is an exciting new initiative under creation by the “Livingston Business and Education Alliance (LBEA)”. The alliance seeks to provide value-added internships for high school and college students and retrained workers.

The LBEA is comprised of business leaders from various industries and chambers of commerce, school district superintendents, high school representatives, colleges from the Livingston Higher Education Network, and Workforce Development Council members.

Benefits of internships are many:

WIN	WIN	WIN
Students and retrained workers gain valuable experience	Employers create a pipeline of qualified workers	The community keeps local talent local
Students learn employability skills	Employers obtain skilled assistance with special projects	The community benefits from business and education collaboration
Students get a “foot in the door” leading to possible employment	Employers gain the insights and fresh ideas of a younger generation	Economic development is enhanced
Students get to “try out” careers	Employers gain technical expertise	Expanded public relations opportunities for businesses and the community are available
